

The last opportunity for 2017

The Mayor's Resiliency in Youth Series, Part 4

Featuring: A panel of resilient youth and families who will talk about their experience with high-fidelity wraparound

What: An interactive dinner to focus on the resiliency of youth – who are the future of Cheyenne – and their families.

Join Magellan Healthcare and Mayor Marian Orr for the last in this very successful and useful series in 2017. We will have a strengths-based discussion about how youth and family have built lasting resiliency using High Fidelity Wraparound and other resources in our community. Also, learn about resources available to help youth be successful at home, school and in their community, making them more resilient. Enjoy dinner and network with key community members.

Why: Be a part of strengthening our system of care and community for youth in Wyoming
